A HOMESPUN HERO.—"You had better take better care of that young one." This was the modest remark of Engineer Jack Evans, of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railway, as he handed the child he had saved back to its mother and mounted his engine to move ahead. Our readers must not forget the circumstance. Jack saw the child toddling along on the track just ahead of his train, and comprehended instantly that it was too late to stop the engine before he reached it. So he did as manly and as brave an act as ever was performed by any hero. He reversed his engine, ran out on the guard as nimbly as a cat, and when close to the child jumped, caught it in his arms, and threw himself sideways from the track. The pilot struck him and whirled him twelve or fifteen feet down the bank, bruising him considerably, but he saved the baby's life and handed it back to its mother, with the remark at the head of this article. He probably hasn't got any theology, and when it comes to treatises on man or essays on political economy Jack will tell you at once that he knows nothing about them. We dare say he is totally unacquainted with Homer, absolutely uninformed about Hume, and probably never heard of Richard Grant White or David Frederick Strauss. And yet who shall deny that Jack is a braver man and a greater than any of them? He never dreamt it; his friends never thought of such a thing; to himself and all about him he was a very ordinary man, getting through the world as comfortably as hard work and small pay would permit, but satisfied with a very low seat in the human tabernacle; and yet the occasion comes, and Jack freely and without a moment's hesitation walks out and risks his life to save a very small specimen of humanity, who by no possible contingency can ever repay the debt. —[Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"OKLAHOMA."—Oklahoma, the Indian Territory, contains an area of 70,000 square miles—which is larger than all New England—and is at present inhabited by about 58,000 Indians who are by courtesy classed as civilized, and some 20,000 who are unquestionably savage. Its queer sounding name, by the way, is Choctaw, and signifies "The home of the red man." Among the large tribes of Choctaws and Chickasaws, who belong to the most civilized class, there are also about 5,000 negroes, formerly slaves to the Indians, but now free. In all, then, the new territory can be started with a population of 83,000 persons, which is quite enough for a good start. But if the experience of our country has conclusively demonstrated anything in particular, it has shown the utter impracticability of conducting elections without whiskey, and we cannot calmly contemplate the introduction of this necessary element among our red brethren amid the excitement of a political campaign without feeling that the combination of circumstances would be such as might well incite in the breasts of timid people an irrestrainable longing to get away from Oklahoma. [San Francisco Chronicle.

CAUGHT BY A "FROG."—Near the city of Detroit a man by the name of McArthur was crossing a railroad track when his foot caught fast in a "frog," and his efforts to extricate it were of no avail. His boot fitted so closely that he could not draw his foot out, and at length he could hardly move his leg for pain. He found that he must either be run over by the next train or make known his situation. He shouted himself hoarse, but no one came. After having been a prisoner for upwards of an hour he heard the whistle. He had a match box in his pocket, papers in his bundle, and the idea came to him to signal the train. Tearing the paper off his bundle, and getting at some letters, he rolled them into a heap, and for fear that the flame would die out too suddenly he added his clothes. The bundle was then made fast to the end of his walking-stick, and he waited until the headlight of the locomotive should appear. It finally greeted his vision and he struck his match, but a gust of wind blew it out! Another match was struck, and in an instant he waved his signal back and forth, and just when he thought death was certain he heard the whistle for brakes. He was saved, but the engine had only thirty feet more to go to crush him. The fireman came forward, got a crowbar and released him, and he was taken back to the caboose.

THE RIGHT OR LEFT ARM?—The question, whether a gentleman walking with a lady should give her his right or left arm, is frequently discussed. Custom and etiquette are rather in favor of the right, although there are excellent reasons in behalf of the left arm. Either one or the other, permanently retained, is vastly better than the awkward and absurd habit of changing arms so as to place the lady on the inside of the promenade. The advantage of giving the left arm is that the person on the right naturally takes the lead, so that, in the country or city, in the street or park, he thus readily directs the way, instead of waiting to consult with his companion, or causing a jostling by each of them trying to move to opposite points. Another advantage is, that in a crowded thoroughfare, such as Broadway, for example, where the sidewalk is invariably encumbered with merchandise and thronged with people, a gentleman needs his right arm to remove obstructions and keep rude or careless folks out of the way.—["Home and Society"; Scribner's for June.

NEWSPAPER BORES.—There is not a more intolerable nuisance on earth than the newspaper bore. He carries off your exchanges; insists upon reading your proof sheets, and then goes out and tells what will be in the paper; smokes your pipe, upsets your paste pot, and worse than all, obtrudes his advice upon you. He listens keenly to any private conversation you may be having about something that doesn't concern him in the least.

Turn him loose in the composing room and he is worse than a bull in a china shop. We remember hearing once of a newly married bore, who as newly married men do, thought he knew everything, and took his fresh victim to explain to her the mysteries of a printing office. Coming up to an unoccupied case about half full of letters, he said to his bride, "This my dear, is where they keep the types," (pointing to the lower case,) "and this," laying his hand upon the cap case, "is the lid they have to cover them up at night to keep the rats and mice out." Suiting the action to the word he pulled down the "lid" to show how it worked. Was anybody mad? Oh no!—[Chicago Specimen.

FROST-PROOF FENCE.—About one year ago I was rebuilding a fence that the frost had lifted, with the exception of 4 or 5 sections which stood firm. Upon examination I found the edge of the first board resting on the ground, and readily came to the conclusion that that was the reason why this part of the fence remained in good condition. Some may say it will rot the boards on the ground. That may be the case in time; but it would be better to replace a board in course of time than to have the whole fence ruined. It would be better to grass the ground under the fence, either by sodding or seeding it, and if the fence is painted I would recommend the painting the lower edge of the boards next to the ground before nailing them on. The ground under the fence can easily be made level with the first board with the spade or otherwise.—[The Sun.

CLEANING PAINT.—A good way to clean paint is to smear it over with whiting, mixed to the consistency of common paste in warm water. Rub the surface to be cleaned briskly, and wash off with pure cold water. Grease spots will, in this way, be almost instantly removed, as well as other marks, and the paint will retain its beauty and brilliancy unimpaired.

THE DAY.

Postmaster General Cresswell has resigned and it is said that he will be succeeded by the Hon. Eugene Hall of Maine.

The election of Mr. Browne to the chief justiceship provides the state with a worthy judge and removes one candidate from the Senatorial field.

The one hundred and sixth commencement of Brown University occurred yesterday. Twenty four young gentlemen were decorated with the degree of B. A.

The Washington Republican has discovered that the third term is an interesting subject and has contained quite recently several editorials on the subject which began by saying that a third term is not a dangerous thing, then, that it is not an unwise thing, and, grown more bold, it at last declares that a third term is an excellent thing. The Republican has hitherto had the reputation of being the organ of the administration.

The adoption of the constabulary law by an effective majority in the senate, and more than two thirds of the house settles that vexed point for the present and we may rest assured that Gov. Howard will appoint efficient and honest men for the responsible positions of chief and deputy constables. Our constabulary force will be so small that it will not have the opportunity to work political machinery that the Massachusetts constables have. It is to be hoped that their conduct will be impartial and thorough.

The pastor of Adirondack Park street church will learn with a good deal of interest, no doubt, that the owner of Apology, the winner of the Oakes stakes at Epsom this year, is a clergyman of the Church of England, who resides in the north of England, and races under the name of "Mr. Launde." He appears to think that the ownership of race horses is not quite in accordance with his sacred calling, for he sent round to all the sporting papers, requesting the editors not to give his real name.

The appointment of Mr. Moran, secretary of legation at London, as Third Assistant Secretary of State is the right kind of civil service, and if the President will give us enough of this kind we won't ask for a peripatetic board of examination. We have always said that promotion rather than examination was the key to reform in our civil service. Mr. Moran has served our government at London some twenty-two years with credit to himself and advantage to his employers. For good honest work and not for political services he has now been promoted. If all appointments were as good as this and made for as good reasons there would be no more talk about reforming our civil service.

A Florence journal says that the pope has been presented with a copy of the address sent from the United States to Archbishop Ledochowski of Posen. The holy father, in replying, spoke most cordially of America, and said: "The United States is the only country where I am really pope in the eyes of the government. I am always afraid lest European governments shall oppose or control my acts, whereas I can freely send pontifical documents to the United States without fear of opposition on the part of its government." And yet this infallible and inconsistent individual denounces universal suffrage and secular education, the two forces which have made the United States different from countries where public officials, educated by "the church," interfere with pontifical documents. The pope says he is recognized as such only in this country; then let him order his servants to cease their efforts to make it like Italy, Austria and Spain where "the church" sharpened the weapons with which she is now being resisted.

The honorable gentlemen who constituted the late legislature of the District of Columbia were filled with grief when Congress passed an act which expelled them from office and prevented their waxing fat any longer on the public spoils. But they died "game." They were determined to steal as long as there was anything to steal and when they finally adjourned they did what they could to leave nothing movable in the hall where they had held their meetings. They sent express wagons for what they could not carry off in their hands and completely gutted the room of desks, chairs, clocks, mirrors, water coolers, inkstands, towels, combs, brushes and soap. The Washington Star says that one retiring member, not caring to excite public envy by a display of his spoils, concealed a feather duster on his person by passing the handle down his pantaloons leg and buttoning his vest over the brushy end. Worthy men, these, to legislate over the capital of the United States! The chief of police sent word to these ex-legislators that over ring contracts and public work frauds he had no control, but larceny came within his jurisdiction and the kleptomaniacs smiled blandly and said it was all a joke and returned their swag.

THE ADJOURNMENT.

A story is told of a lady scantily versed in political lore who heard some one speak of a Congressman-at-large and immediately called out to her daughter, "Susan! Don't you leave them clothes on the line tonight for they say there's a Congressman at large." The lady's idea of Congressmen does not seem to be shared by the New York produce exchange whose members evidently think Congressmen more dangerous when confined in the capitol than when at large, for they petitioned the mayor to be allowed to fire one hundred guns on the adjournment of Congress.

To fire a salute as a mark of joy over the adjournment of Congress would undoubtedly be an insult to that body and to the country and, of course, it ought not to be permitted; but the impertinent petition is interesting as showing the esteem in which Congress is held. Its incapacity to settle the financial difficulties of the country has been made so evident that those who have most at stake get relief only when our national Solons disperse and assure the public that no change will be made for better or worse till next December. Certainty even of a negative kind is accepted as preferable to uncertainty.

The barons who wrested magna charta from King John at Runnymede little dreamt that representative government could ever sink so low in popular estimation that the adjournment of the freely elected representatives of the people would ever be hailed with joy, and yet such is often the case in this country both with regard to the national and the state legislatures. To use a commercial phrase, representative government is so common with us that it has become a drug in the market. Our legislative bodies can hardly be said to represent the best intelligence of the country and we have no fear of an irresponsible monarchy and so we look on Congress and the state bodies with no affection and little respect.

But it is not simply the character of our legislative bodies that produces uneasiness in the public mind. We have many able and many upright men in public life, and perhaps Congressmen are no worse than their constituents, but change is wearisome and injurious. Our statute books are like kaleidoscopes—the pictures they present to us are ever changing. Repeals and substitutions and amendments form a haze about the general statutes that only the practised eye can pierce, and the question arises whether once in two years is not often enough for a legislative body to meet. The people are demanding peace instead of this interminable war of statutes.

BOOK NOTICE.

TEMPEST TOSSED, A Romance; by Theodore Tilton. New York, Sheldon & Co; Newport, Charles E. Hammett, Jr.

The volume before us, from the pen of Mr. Tilton, is fitly styled, at its very commencement, "a romance;" for its author indulges in the wildest fancies, continually calling forth a feeling of astonishment that any one could imagine such strange adventures, such impossible coincidences.

It is the story of a ship, which, leaving this country for the Cape of Good Hope, encounters a terrific tempest when within three hundred miles of her destination, and is set on fire by the lightning, deserted by captain, crew, and all the passengers save three—Dr. Vail, his sick wife, and a colored nurse. And there, at midnight, with the ship on fire, is born the heroine of the story, Barbara. A torrent of rain quenches the fire, and the dismantled ship, of which only the hull remains, floats at her own sweet will round the ocean for seventeen years; meeting no vessel, nor seeing vestige of human life. Nevertheless, Mr. Tilton has made them as comfortable as if safe at home in Boston. Marvelous ingenuity is exerted to keep them provided with fuel, needles and thread and clothing. Not even food is left out; for the ship's cargo consists of all kinds of provisions, which keep in the most remarkable manner through the whole voyage.

At last they find anchorage in a bay of one of the Caribee islands. The island has no inhabitants now, but those it had once have left a house with stained windows all ready for our mariners. They divide their time between this place and the ship, meeting with many wonderful adventures and hair breadth escapes, until, the strangest event of all, they are rescued by their own friends, who have been gathered from all quarters of the globe for the occasion. Barbara straightway marries the man of whom she has dreamed all her life, and who has dreamed of her all his life. Surely so many wonderful things never happened before, outside the Arabian Night's Tales.

The style is very uneven: at times being intensely exciting, and again so tame as to be almost disgusting. Mr. Tilton has evidently succeeded in his purpose of making a sensation.

The funeral of the late Mrs. J. J. Audubon, widow of the great naturalist, took place Tuesday morning. The services were conducted in the Church of the Intercession, and were largely attended.

It is reported that at the new election for directors of the Erie Railroad in July, W. Butler Duncan and C. D. Babcock will retire and their places be filled by Marshall O. Roberts and Thomas A. Scott. It is now settled that Hugh J. Jewett, of the Pan-Handle Road, is to take the Presidency soon.

The general council of the bricklayers' union Monday night heard reports from delegates from all the unions, which showed that all but six bosses in the city are now paying the advance wages demanded, $4 per day. The number of men out of work is only one hundred and fifty.

WISE MICE:—An incident occurred near the old Mohawk bridge the other day during the sudden rise of the river, which showed the intelligence of the mice and the care exercised by the mother for her young. The mother evidently had a nest in the stone wall near the bank, in the garden of Mr. Van Epps. As soon as the water reached the nest, or near it, the mother was seen to come from the wall with one of her young in her mouth, and deposit it beneath a tree on the ground out of danger from the flood. She went back and forth, taking one of her young each time, until they were all saved. On another occasion at the same place an old mouse did the same thing and more. When she had rescued a part of her young the water had risen so as to cut off communication with her nest, but this did not stop her. She plunged into the water, swam over to the nest and brought away several young mice in this way, holding them in her mouth above water while she swam with them to dry land. This feat was witnessed by several persons.—[Schenectady Union.

—The horses of Mr. W. P. Sheffield were frightened yesterday by the sound of martial music and became unmanageable, but thanks to the presence of mind of the driver, they were run into a fence on Division street and stopped. No serious damage was done.

—Washington Commandery and St. John's Lodge wish it distinctly understood that they are not at all responsible for the change in the line of march yesterday. It was made by Worshipful C. R. Brayton, grand marshal and the Newport Masons were not to blame for it.

—Mr. J. M. K. Southwick who has recently purchased the stock and business of Mr. W. H. Bliss, has enlarged and improved thestore and offers an attractive variety of sportsmen's articles in connection with the goods usually kept in a house furnishing establishment.

Considering the disadvantage under which they labor in the way of communication with the island, they have done pretty well in having participated in every ballot thus far taken for Senator.

—The turnouts of Mr. James Gordon Bennet this season are expected to eclipse anything that can be found on Bellevue avenue. His carriages, horses, coachmen and footmen have been imported by him from Europe and it is said he will drive a six in hand. He arrived today at the Cushing house, near the "Rocks."

KNAVE.—Albert Arnold, living with Nathan Dodge on Block Island, took a boat belonging to Welcome Dodge and W. W. Littlefield on Monday morning and started off with her. He touched here yesterday and as soon as Capt. Rose of the Block Island mail packet, Nathan F. Dixon, heard of it he went in search of him, but was obliged to give up the chase after going out as far as Point Judith. The boat when last seen was headed for the island, and as the young adventurer told some of the islanders at the wharf yesterday that he would return the boat, it is presumed he kept on until he reached home.

BOYD'S DIRECTORY.—Mr. Boyd's representative is here making a canvass of our city for the year 1874. He purposes making a systematic and accurate canvass this season with a separate list of semi-annual residents. Notwithstanding the failure in so doing in the issue of 1873 we have faith that in the issue forthcoming we shall have a work commending itself to all our business men judging as we do, from the experience of the person in charge and the careful manner in which he takes information. A great deal depends upon those giving information at the residences, as to the initials of the names, spelling, etc. If such information is given cheerfully and correctly we are safe in predicting a reliable work for this year.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

Last night Mr. David M. Barker heard a noise and on looking out saw by the moonlight two men trying to get into a rear window of the shoe store of Benjamin H. Ailman, Jr. They had pulled out the staple attached to the iron bar by which its shutters are fastened and they broke through the glass while Mr. Barker was looking at them.

He at once gave an alarm which was heard by two men who happened to be passing on Thames street. One of these, Mr. Wilcox, immediately started up the alley way toward the rear of Mr. Ailman's store and the thieves finding themselves pursued, jumped over the fence and tried to get away on Mary street, but Mr. Mahony, who lives on that street, was aroused by the noise and ran out in time to head one of them off. About this time Officers Albro and Ackers arrived and the man was captured and taken to the Station House.

The prisoner's name is John Tierney and he hails from Providence. He denies that he had any companion. On his person were found a watch, two breastpins and some shirt and cuff studs of small value. The breastpins have been identified by a man in the employ of Alderson, the tailor, as his property. At the same time that he lost the pins he lost a coat and some other articles and Tierney probably knows where they are.

.....In his sermon last Sunday Mr. Beecher paid a fine tribute to one woman's influence which had done much to mould the Plymouth pastor's life. But what a pity that her name should have to be omitted. Said Mr. Beecher, "There came to Litchfield when I was about eight years old a slender creature—her name I have forgotten, if I ever knew it. So delicate and attenuated was she that the sun seemed to shine through her. She moved quietly through the schoolroom where I had so often been kicked and thumped and had my ears pulled. Here came this spectre of a human being whose eyes were lustrous of another world. I can remember her as a dream, but I feel to this hour distinctly that many things I say to you were born out of that woman's gentle and noble influence. She has in some sense been preaching as long as I have preached. Many who have heard me preach will preach themselves and derive influence from me. Thus unconsciously she lives in the influence engrafted upon me. 'Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord. * * * They rest from their labors and their works do follow them.'"

THE BULK GRAIN MOVEMENT.—This season, curiously enough, affords a steadier and more constant movement of grain in bulk from St. Louis to Europe than any of the preceding seasons. Yet grain is much scarcer and a hundred per cent. dearer than it was this time last year. At least that is true so far as corn is concerned, and more corn is now going forward from this city to Europe by way of the great water route than ever before. During 1872 we received more corn than during 1873, by more than 1,000,000 bushels, and the receipts therefore for 1874 are considerable less than for the corresponding time of 1873. Therefore we say it seems curious that there should be more than double the amount of this grain moving from here to Europe.—[St. Louis Democrat 18th.

The statistics of the senior class of Williams College show that 39 men have been connected with the class, but only 31 will be graduated. The Prohibition convention organized at Auburn, N. Y., Tuesday morning. After a long debate as to credentials, the convention proceeded to business, electing C. C. Leigh permanent president. The following nominations were made: For Governor, Myron H. Clark; for Lieutenant Governor, J. C. Bogg, of Onondaga; Judge of the Court of Appeals, Horace V. Howland, of Cayuga (despite a declination on his behalf); Canal Commissioner, Daniel Walford; State Prison Inspector, Ira Bell. Resolutions were passed declaring total prohibition the only remedy for the evils arising from the use of ardent spirits, and that as this remedy can only be obtained by special party organization, the Democrats not pretending to favor interference with the rum interest and the Republicans having forfeited the right to be considered the party of great morals and the friend of temperance, the establishment of a distinct prohibition party in this state is therefore approved. The proposed amendment to the Constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of liquor is warmly favored. The resolutions also commend the women who took part in the recent movement against intemperance, and renew the pledge to put the ballot in the hands of women when we have power. WASHINGTON ITEMS.

The chair appointed Mr. Morrill, of Vermont, commissioner, on the part of the Senate to provide for the erection of the statue of Nathaniel Greene. Mr. Ennes has been appointed on the part of the House.

The six Senators who are understood to have voted in favor of the confirmation of ex-Gov. Shepherd to be one of the commissioners to temporarily govern this district, are Sargent, of California; Jones, of Nevada Patterson, of South Carolina; Spencer, of Alabama; Clayton, of Arkansas; and Mitchell, of Oregon.

The injunction of secrecy upon the reciprocity treaty was removed in order that its provisions might be thoroughly discussed by the people of the country, especially those of New England. The Senators from that section were all dissatisfied with the provisions of the treaty, holding that it was almost entirely in the interests of Canada as against the interests of our own citizens.

CHIEF JUSTICE BROWNE.

The General Assembly has elected, in grand committee, Colonel George H. Browne, to be chief justice of the supreme court of the state. Colonel Browne is a lawyer in full practice, and with a business not only large but lucrative. He has been at the bar, and recognized by it and the community as a sound counsellor, for many years. As a public man he has attained an enviable position; in Congress his course in the anti-slavery controversy was on the side of freedom. Upon the breaking out of the rebellion, Democrat as he was, he took command of a regiment, and did good service in the field. Wherever he has been, his views have always been open to all, and of his strength of purpose there has never been the shadow of a doubt. With such a character, it is readily to be perceived the chief justice elect is a man in whose judicial care the interests of the people of Rhode Island will be safe. The bar will recognize in him a sound lawyer; the people will have confidence in his integrity, and all will agree that the important position to which he has been chosen will be filled by a conservative and pains taking man. As the legislature has raised the salary of the chief justice to $5,000, it is to be hoped, we trust,—we may say assume—that Mr. Browne will accept the office. There is labor enough for the whole court; the salary is now such that in view of the dignity and practical tenure of the office, a man may well give up a larger income for a place upon the bench. The state of Rhode Island has ever had a most careful, honest, sound judiciary. It has, with the right of annual election, made the judgeship really a life of office. Mr. Browne is a Rhode Island man in education and sentiment, and yet not without the breadth of observation and reading which come of public service and extensive study. With many years of usefulness before him, in the natural order of events, we look to the upholding by Mr. Browne of the established character of our highest court, and an accession to himself of public regard and a career of greater usefulness.—[Providence Bulletin.

Habitual Constipation—How to Effect a Certain and Permanent Cure.

Some occupations of life predispose to costiveness, especially those which allow but little exercise. Persons who contract this unfortunate habit of body, under such unfortunate circumstances, might possibly be relieved by changing their sedentary employments for others of a more active kind; but this is by no means certain. Habitual constipation is a very obstinate disorder. All the ordinary so-called remedies invariably aggravate it. Nothing can be more injurious than the continued use of strong aperients. They at first irritate, and finally almost paralyze the bowels, rendering them so torpid that enormous doses of cathartic medicines have no effect upon them. A mild aperient, combined with a gentle stimulant, is the true remedy; and a combination in the happiest proportion of these ingredients is found in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This famous stomachic invigorates the whole intestinal canal, while quickly removing from its convolutions all hopelessness to a free passage through them. No more purgative has this domain operation. No ordinary stimulant effects the desired object. Cases of constipation abandoned as hopeless by distinguished medical men have been cured in a few weeks by the Bitters. To those who tried all the medicines of the dispensary in vain we say try this incredible stimulant and aperient. There is no sufficient reason why constipation should be the consequence of sedentary habits. Hostetter's Bitters, by supplying the vigor which would otherwise be derived from exercise, will in all cases enable the system to perform its excretory functions regularly and healthily.

PIMPLES AND HUMORS ON THE FACE.—In this condition of the skin, the VEGETINE is the great remedy as it acts directly upon the cause. It cleanses and purifies the blood, thereby causing humors of all kinds to disappear.

Astral Oil.

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

WHAT IS IT? Astral Oil is a derivative of petroleum, produced by a new and improved process of manufacture, which gives it all the good, without any of the objectionable qualities of ordinary refined kerosene. Explosion is guarded against, and families can burn ASTRAL OIL WITH THE SAME SAFEGUARD OF SAFETY AS THEY CAN GAS.

ITS QUALITIES.—It is perfectly pure, containing no foreign substances. It gives a clear, uniform and beautiful light, unequalled even by gas. It is free from objectionable odors. It burns in the ordinary kerosene lamps. It is always uniform in quality.

ITS SAFETY.—The Astral Oil may be relied upon as non-explosive and in every way perfectly safe to use. If, while burning, a lamp be upset and broken, the contents will not explode or take fire. It is the safest oil that can be made. Persons once using it will have no other. For sale by Grocers generally. d30

Newport Daily News.

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1874.

GENERAL NEWS.

WASHINGTON.

The Sexgiru.

WASHINGTON, June 24.

Nearly all Congressmen left last night and this morning, only a few remaining behind to attend to business in the departments. There were quite a number of Senators and members at the White House and Treasury Department this morning, anxious to see the President and Secretary of the Treasury. The latter was especially besieged by gentlemen anxious to hurry along the appropriations made by Congress for the erection of public buildings in their districts.

Five Millions from New England.

The comptroller of the currency has already taken the necessary steps to carry out the provisions of the currency act which recently passed Congress. He will start by calling in about five millions from the New England states and then proceed as demand is made upon him for circulation. Several applications have already been filed, and others are expected. There will be no difficulty about carrying out the provisions of the bill, as they were mostly drawn by the comptroller of the currency.

Ineligible.

Congressman Bass of New York, who was appointed and confirmed as assistant secretary of the treasury, it has been discovered is ineligible, even should he conclude to accept. He voted for an increase of salary for the assistant secretary of the treasury, and is therefore barred by law from holding the place.

The District Commission.

Some days ago the President notified the gentlemen who have been appointed on the commission to frame a government for the District of Columbia, of the fact of this appointment, but he has not as yet received any notification of their acceptance.

Prospective Reduction of Clerks.

The Secretary of the Treasury today issued a notice to the bureau officers to report to him the names of their clerks, the states from which appointed, date of original entry into the department and also an estimate of efficiency. This order has in view a reduction in accordance with the appropriation bills and the least useful clerks will be first to go.

The Equestrian Statue to Gen. Greene

was finally provided for, an appropriation of $40,000 having been secured through the efforts of the Rhode Island delegation. Senator Anthony especially gave great attention to the subject. Senator Morrill of Vermont and Mr. Eames of Rhode Island, are the Congressional part of the committee.

The Statistics of the Business.

The number of bills which became laws during the last session were Senate bills, 131 and House bills, 421.

FROM NEW YORK.

A Diabolical Scheme Frustrated.

NEW YORK, June 24.

Yesterday, the warden of the Hudson N. J. Penitentiary, at Snake Hill, discovered a deep laid plot on the part of the prisoners to murder the night watchman and release all the inmates of the institution, to the number of about two hundred.

The Archbishop of Canterbury's Ritualistic Bill.

An English letter says the archbishop of Canterbury's bill, now being discussed in the House of Lords, is likely to lead to serious consequences. The bill has been prepared, it is rumored, under the direct inspiration of the queen and is intended to check ritualistic practises. The ritualists are furious, and declare if it is carried the immediate consequence will be the secession of a large number of both clergymen and laymen from the Established Church and the organization of a church of their own, with one or two of the ex-colonial bishops at their head.

Two Fires.—Loss, $115,000.

NEW YORK, June 24.

The ice house and stables of the Knickerbocker Ice Company, foot of East One Hundred and Twenty eighth street, were burned this evening. Four wagons and sixty horses, with a large amount of other property, were destroyed. The loss exceeds $109,000.

A fire tonight at 79 Pearl street, damaged the stock of gunny and grain bags of Brower & Brother to the extent of $15,000.

Utah Territory.

A Salt Lake dispatch of last night says there has been an intense excitement here today over the Poland bill regulating the judiciary of this territory. When the first telegram was received announcing its passage through the Senate, the Gentile population was perfectly jubilant. Later in the day when the amendments of Senator Sargent were learned, the Mormons were immeasurably delighted, and the Gentiles proportionably disgusted.

A proposition was made to burn the effigy of Sargent in the public streets tonight, but better counsel prevailed. The bill, however, much as it disappointed everybody, will open the federal courts and give a new impetus to business. The Mormons are gratified with the announced removal of Gen. Morrow's command, and will place at Camp Douglas Gen. John E. Smith, a friend to the Saints.

Sale of Scranton Coal.

The regular monthly sale of Scranton coal took place today. There was a large attendance, and the bidding was somewhat spirited. The following are the prices realized: steamboat, $871@4 90; grate, $5 06; egg, $5 12½@5 15; stove, $5 65; chesnut, $4 57½@6 2½.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Dedication of a Masonic Temple in Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, June 24.

The new Masonic temple in this city, was dedicated today by the officers of the Grand Lodge with imposing ceremonies. Nearly 1,000 Masons were in the procession this afternoon, including commanderies of Knights Templar from Newburyport, Hartford and Hudson, N. Y.

Capture of Bellemont by the Carlists.

MADRID, June 24.

A band of Carlists made an attack upon Bellemont in the province of Tarragona, yesterday and the garrison to avoid the burning of the place surrendered. The insurgents made a demand upon the authorities for $40000, and took off several persons, stating that they would hold them as hostages for the payment of the money. They were followed by a force of Republican troops who overtook them and killed twenty of their number.

The Perils of the Paris Press.

PARIS, June 24.

The newspapers Figaro La France and Le Soir have been sued by the government for violation of the press laws in reprinting Rochefort's letter. The verdict was guilty, with extenuating circumstances, and the proprietors were fined only one hundred francs each.

The Ohio Coal Miners.

COLUMBUS, O., June 24.

At the Plummer Hill Coal Mine at Straitsville yesterday, seventy six non-union white miners were registered to go to work, but when it came to the point of actual work, only about forty of them went into the mine. Most of these were taken about noon by union miners. Seventy six cars of coal by the coal miners are being shipped from Nelsonville daily.

The Syracuse Disaster.

SYRACUSE, June 24.

The Central Baptist church disaster proves to have been fully as serious as telegraphed last night.

The bodies of fourteen persons killed have been recovered, and further search this morning shows that this is the number killed outright. Several persons are so severely injured that they will probably die.

HOW THE POSTAGE LAW STANDS.—The exact condition of the postage law is this: Daily newspapers, two cents per pound, prepaid after January 1, 1875; weekly newspapers and periodicals, three cents per pound, prepaid after same date. All newspapers are free within the county of publication. The Congressional Record, when sent from the publication office, is subject to the law governing daily newspapers; transient copies of the Record one cent each. Congressmen's speeches have no special privilege.

The number of minor casualties is nearly or quite one hundred, among them about a dozen with broken limbs and ribs. The cause of the disaster was the defective construction of the building. The supporting truss was composed of planks spiked together. The excitement in the community continues very great.

LATER.—Up to 1 o'clock this afternoon, two additional deaths have occurred. Several of the injured will be crippled for life.

Various theories of the cause of the accident are advanced. The floor which fell was suspended by iron rods from a wooden truss under the roof. These rods went through the lower but not through the upper chord of the truss. The lower chord had been spliced wrong side up, and at that point was the first to give way. The floor having no props beneath it, sank in the form of the letter V. The most of the deaths were caused by the falling timbers of the truss. Some, however, were smothered by the plastering.

The floors of the church were supported originally by iron pillars. A short time ago the church building committee, with the consent, they say, of the architect, removed the iron pillars the result was the calamity of Tuesday night. The truss was very imperfectly constructed, besides being spliced. The most prominent builders in the city say it was rotten. It was put in green, and has the dry rot.

Anti-Monopoly in Iowa.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 24.

The anti-monopoly state convention met today. W. T. Cordell, temporary chairman, made a speech in which he characterized both the old parties as corrupt beyond redemption. He denounced the protective tariff as a curse to the country, declared the national bank monopoly a fraud and the patent right system a cheat upon the country. He relied on a new party to right those wrongs and carry Iowa by ten thousand majority.

The Massachusetts Temperance Alliance.

BOSTON, June 24.

At a meeting of the Massachusetts Temperance Alliance today, it was voted that we appeal to the voters of the state to consider the leading measures of the liquor traffic in the present legislature: First its attempt to reduce the number of the state constabulary; second, its special efforts to abolish the commissioners; third, its offer made through many senators not to attack the prohibitory law if permitted to abolish the state force provided for its execution; also the following resolution:

Resolved, That the claim of the liquor party, that the sentiment of the state is in favor of license, is a downright insult to the intelligence of the people, and that until they can exhibit sufficient power to secure, not only the senate and house of representatives, but the governor in favor of license, it is clearly evident that the public sentiment of the state is in favor of prohibition.

A resolution was adopted calling upon towns and cities to hold mass meetings in favor of total abstinence and prohibition on the Fourth of July. Also, endorsing Senator Washburn's election as a triumph for prohibition.

BAY STATE "BRASS"—We always did suppose that for a fellow to steal your porridge and then coolly come and ask for the loan of your spoon to eat it with was about the summit of impudence; but the Springfield Republican has scaled a loftier peak. Fancy the feelings of the editor of the Winsted Herald when, after a day of protracted and exhausting labor and study to place his journal first in the hearts of his countrymen, he homeward plodded his weary way last Monday evening and found his own domestic, peculiar, and private coal-bin ornamented with a flaming poster bearing these great, swelling words: "Subscribe for the Springfield Republican—New England's best newspaper!" Well, well! We are aware that Bowles & Co. had established a kind of political protectorate over the state of Connecticut, and perhaps they have got a fee-simple title to our coal-bin. If so we would thank them to label it in a manner less humiliating to the fate proprietor.—[Winsted (Ct.) Herald.

WANTS TO BE A STATE.—The isolated condition of the Southern counties, their distance from the capital, the lack of accord between our interests and those of the rest of the state, and the want of easy means of communication, all taken together tend to dissatisfy our people and lead them to favor the formation of a separate commonwealth. Lack of wealth and population to sustain the burdens of a state government and entitle us to admission into the sisterhood of sovereignties alone keeps back the agitation of the subject, but as our section grows in importance the disposition to set up for ourselves will increase. When we consider the time, expense, and discomfort of making the trip—Los Angeles is as far from San Francisco and Sacramento as the Mississippi is from New York; yet in traveling from the father of waters to the great city one passes through the territory of no less than five great States, each with its commercial and political centre. Newport Daily News.

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1874.

Jet is found in various districts of England, notably near Whitby, in Yorkshire. It occurs also in Spain, in Saxony, and in the amber districts, on the Prussian shores of the Baltic. Scientific men, in the language of mineralogy, say that jet is a variety of coal; that it occurs sometimes in elongated masses, sometimes in the form of branches, with a woody structure; that its fracture is conchoidal or shelly, its lustre brilliant and resinous, and its color velvet black; that it is about twenty per cent. heavier than water; that it burns with a greenish flame, emits a bituminous odor while burning, and leaves a yellowish ash. But the Whitby folks, says a writer in All the Year Round, can adduce many reasons for thinking that jet, in some of its forms at any rate, must have been at one time in a semi-liquid state, quite unlike coal derived from a ligenous origin.

FLOWERS.—The sole fashion which should never change is the fashion set by good taste. A fashion that is not so set is the fashion of using artificial flowers where natural ones can be substituted. On hats or bonnets the former are, of course, indispensable; but they should never be worn in any other way upon the person, or employed in the decoration of rooms.—[Home and Society"; Scribner's for June.
